Getting Started: How to Find Your Library?

- Each library now has its own portal with a unique URL, allowing readers to directly access their library with ease.

Method 1: Use Search Function

Simply enter your library's name or location in the search bar. For example: "iRead eBooks University of Washington"

華藝電子書 + 您的單位館名稱

Method 2: Browse Through the Library Directory

Alternatively, you can go through the iRead Main Platform by clicking 'Other Libraries' in the upper right corner, then 'Other Libraries' at the bottom to select your institutional library from the list.

IP Login Method

You'll need to register for an individual Airiti members account first. When using the service for the first time within your institution's network (IP range), the system will automatically recognize your institutional privileges. Once verification is complete, you can log in and use the service normally.

Quick Tip:

1. For first-time setup, please turn off mobile data and use Wi-Fi only.
2. Reverification may be required periodically.

ID Login Method

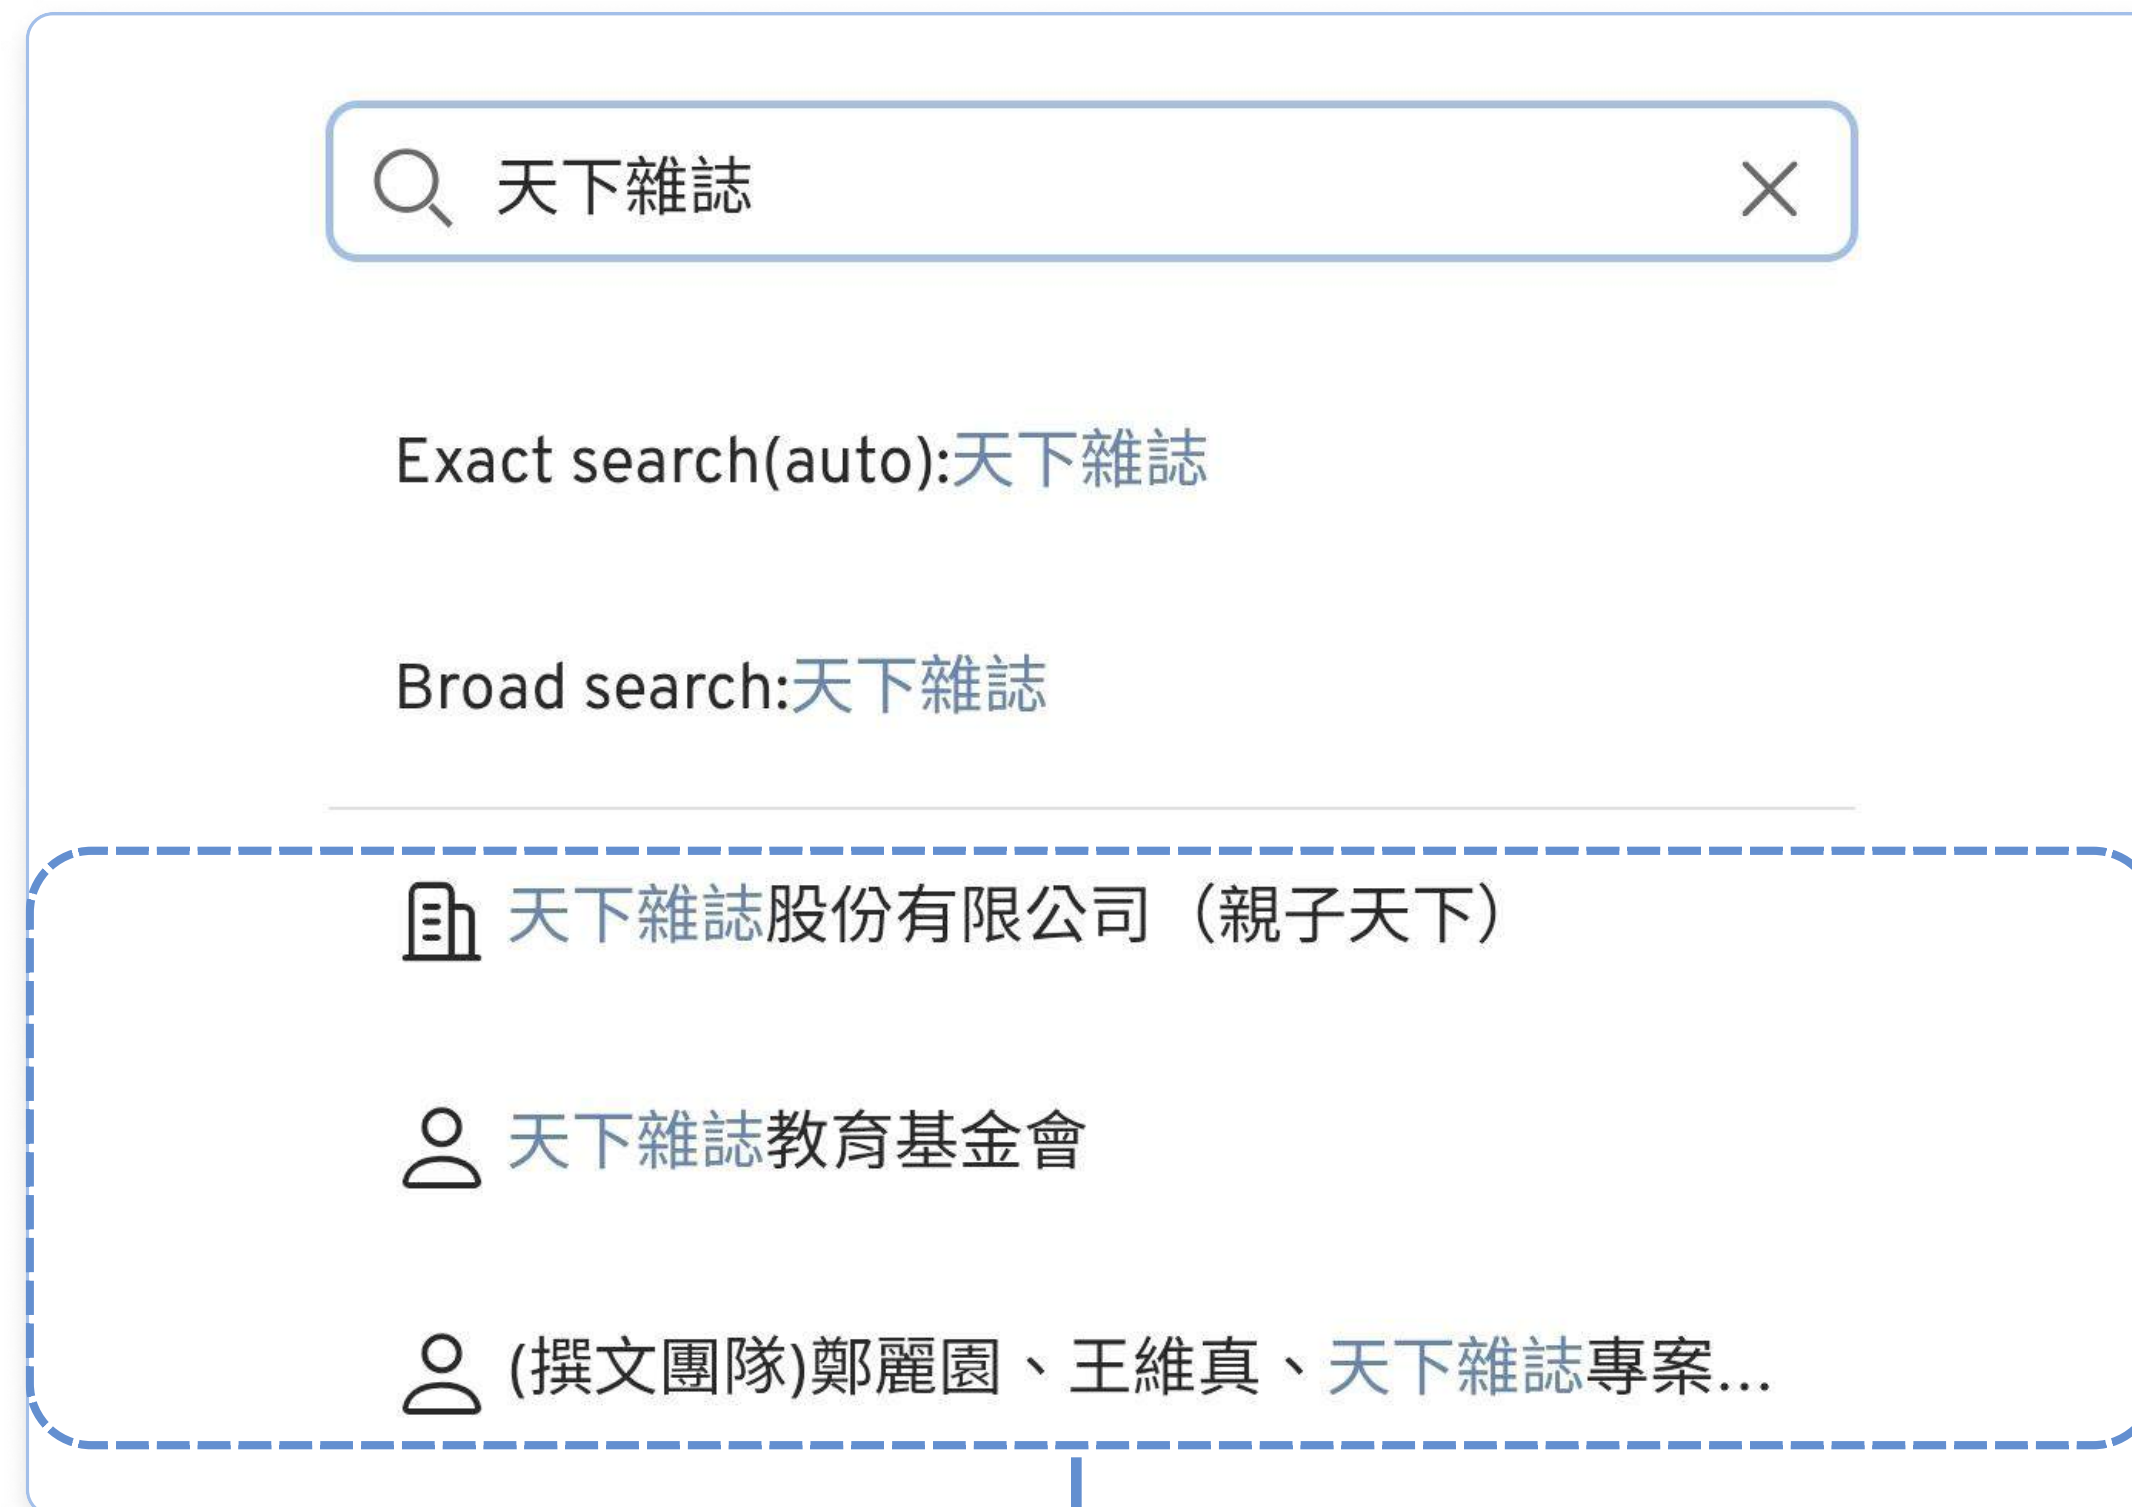

Similarly, you'll need to register for an individual Airiti account first. During your first login, enter the universal account provided by your institution. The system will authenticate based on this account, and once completed, you can start using the service.

Quick Tip: The institutional universal account is not your Airiti member password. Please contact your library for inquiries.

Tip: Individual Airiti members can also use GOOGLE account login.

Search: How to Find the Books You Want to Read?

- We provide both basic search and advanced search functions to help you quickly find your desired books.

The screenshot shows a search bar at the top with the text '天下雜誌' and a clear button (X). Below the search bar, there are two search options: 'Exact search(auto):天下雜誌' and 'Broad search:天下雜誌'. A dashed box highlights a list of suggestions:

- 📖 天下雜誌股份有限公司 (親子天下)
- 👤 天下雜誌教育基金會
- 👤 (撰文團隊)鄭麗園、王維真、天下雜誌專案...

An arrow points from the suggestions box to a blue box at the bottom.

When suggestions appear, click here to quickly complete your search

Basic Search:

Enter keywords in the search bar at the top right corner of the screen

The system can search the following fields: Title, Author, Publisher, ISBN

Exact Match (Default):

Results must precisely match the entered terms, excluding unrelated content For example: Entering "Principles of Economics" will only show books with titles that exactly match this phrase

Partial Match:

Relaxes search conditions, allowing broader results For example: Entering "Taiwan Cinema" might return results like "Taiwan and East Asian Cinema History"

■ Available borrowing types & Borrowing operation button

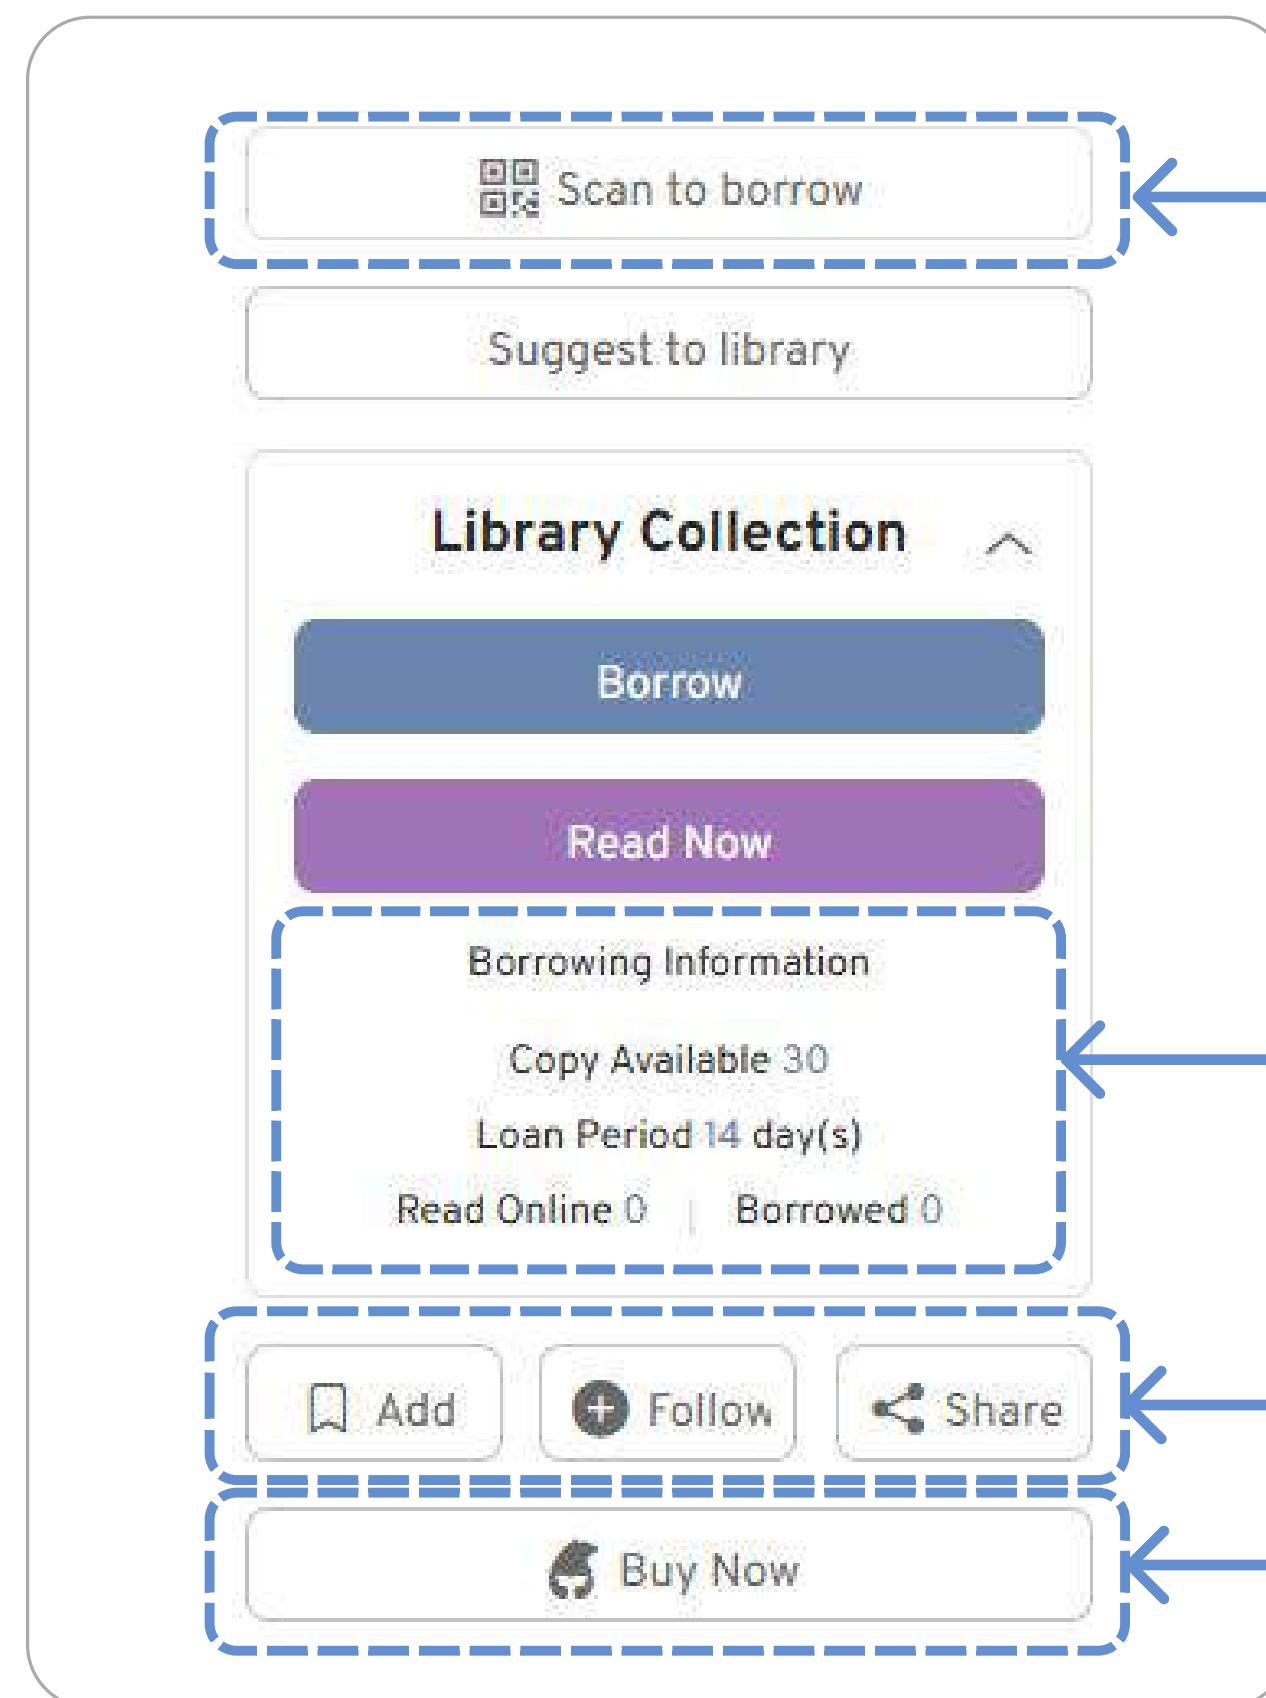

- Books are categorized according to the institution's contract as: Library Collection, On-Demand, MOC On-Demand
 - Borrowing operation button: Different combinations appear based on book availability, contract settings, and other factors
1. Borrow: Login required. After borrowing, the book can be found in your "Borrowed" bookshelf
 2. Read Online: If you are within the institution's IP range or already logged in, you can read the entire book online. However, if you need to take notes or highlight, it's recommended to borrow first
 3. Trial: You can read the first 10% of the book to help you decide whether to borrow it
 4. Reserve: If the number of available copies of a book is 0, the "Borrow" button will change to a "Reserve" button. After a successful reservation, please keep space within your borrowing quota. When it is your turn, the system will automatically check out the book for you and place it in [My Bookshelf]. If your borrowing quota is full when it is your turn the first time, you will be placed back in the queue. If your turn comes a second time and your quota is still full, your reservation will be canceled.
 5. Recommend to your library: If your institution doesn't have this book, you can click here to suggest the library purchase it
 6. Renew: Depending on the library's settings, you can extend the borrowing period

Note: Books under both On-Demand contract types cannot be renewed

Book Overview

Table of Contents

Drawing on extensive historical studies of the lives and works of distinctive yet understudied sinologists in the Czech Republic, Mongolia, Poland, and Russia, this volume takes readers on a journey of exploration and rediscovery of post-communist sinology—an important topic that we know surprisingly little about. After the end of the Cold War, the China Studies research agenda in these four countries has evolved divergently without any apparent shared orientation, despite the previously shared socialist and Communist legacies. Contributors draw on case studies to illustrate how sinologists in these countries actively use diverse approaches to map China's modern evolution and deconstruct stereotypical notions of China's rise in the twenty-first century. These hallmark studies also reveal sinologists' deep engagement with the Chinese humanities. The conclusions in this volume have major implications for the evolution of intellectual history and its analysis, by emphasizing the importance of individualized agency to the practice of post-Communist sinology as both a statement of identity and a strategy for survival during tumultuous political times.

“China scholars in the West often forget that alternative traditions in sinology exist elsewhere. In Sinology in Post-Communist States, Chih-yu Shih has skillfully assembled twelve essays that discuss approaches to studying China in former Communist countries including the Czech Republic, Mongolia, Poland, and Russia. These essays range from personal recollections to analyses of interviews of leading scholars from these regions. They give powerful insights not only on the influence of political change on sinology, but more generally on what drives people to devote their lives to this scholarly pursuit. All those interested in China Studies will find this book enjoyable and illuminating.”—Kam Louie, Honorary Professor, The University of Hong Kong
